Caller asks, Did Wayne cops get away with gambling, too?

In reading the tickets that were dismissed, were there any of our Wayne officers, past or present, who had tickets dismissed? I was wondering how police officers get tickets dismissed when the average citizen can't. [Reportedly, bad warrants were responsible for the dismissals at the Royal Oak party, where wagering allegedly occurred.]

Hey, Sound Off. I called in about a week ago. I had a question: How come we don't have a national white history month? I looked for it in the Sunday

Looking forward

With the dirty snow remnants being washed away by current rainstorms, Romulus residents are now thinking about the fun they expect at the '99 Romulus PumpkinFest. Maria Lambert, Pumpkinfest official, said the new expanded version of the festival will be held Sept. 17, 18 and 19 in downtown Romulus. Residents are invited to join the planning sessions at 6 p.m. the third Thursday of each month in the Community Room of Romulus City Hall. MCN Special Photo

Surveys' return requested

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Romulus city officials urged area residents to return their completed survey forms on the projected city pool/recreation facility this week.

The survey – urged by City Councilman William Wadsworth - reached most area postal patrons last week and their quick return will help city and school district officials fine tune any possible easily chose to spend public mon-referendum question later this year or next.

mulus schools.

Survey results will help set up the guide-lines as to whether any such future effort will be pursued by the two governmental units individually or jointly.

Citizen critic James Rarey -who received his survey last Friday -- expressed feelings that the school district was "manipulating the millage factor ... with its complex scheme."

Rarey said the school district should "justify its need for extra funds...before any such action is taken.'

Mayor William Oakley told Rarey that 167 surveys were returned Monday and only 31 were opposed to the project at this point.

Oakley said none of those returned surveys sought any money issue explanations.

Mayor pro tem Randolph Gear urged that Rarey attend the next joint meeting of the council/school trustee group at 7:30 p.m. March 2 at City Hall.

The public is invited to attend the open session also in the council chambers.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell estimated that if a referendum package can be put together by the city/ school district it could be on a city ballot this September or October.

Oakley was not confident that the issue would make the ballot stage this year...but was hopeful that it would.

The Groundhog did not see its shadow in Romulus on Tuesday - thus residents are sure to see another 100 or more weeks of deepwell litigation and court battles.

The city of Romulus expressed disappointment Monday night (via a written statement from City Environmental Attorney Mark Jacobs) that the Geological Survey Division of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality "has reversed its prior position that the Wahrman road well site must be permanently plugged and abandoned before the Citrin drive permits can be issues.'

There also was deep concern in Romulus that last Thursday Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Peter Houk turned the deepwell matter over to Chief Administrative Law Judge Richard Lacasse "to review and make a decision regarding the proposed stipulation and consent agreement" on the well issue.

DEQ official Hal Fitch has been quoted as saying the Environmental Disposal Systems (EDS) deepwell opening "is probably still about a year and a half away.' Fitch revealed that EDS has agreed to partially plug a 4,500 foot deep well that it has already dug on Wahrman road.

EDS also will not seek to remove that plug and operate the well without first obtaining permission from the state, Fitch added.

Last week's court session was attended by Romulus Mayor William Oakley, various city council members, Taylor representatives and R.P. Lilly, a spokesman for RECAP, a local citizens' group opposed to the deepwell project.

State Representative Ray Basham (D-Taylor) felt there were "no winners" at last week's court session, but still feels that there has been no exhibited need for a commercial waste well in Michigan.

But Basham stated last week it appears the state DEQ is inching toward allowing the well to open.

He vows the well issue is no longer a Romulus/Taylor issue, stating it now is a south/ eastern Michigan issue.

Basham is mind-boggled by the fact that Romulus/Taylor residents have spoken out so bluntly against the well and numerous Downriver governments have echoed those sentiments -- and yet their opinions are now being ig-

Veteran Romulus School Board trustee Howard Kesner announced Thursday night that he will not seek reelection this June.

Kesner, the current board president will be finishing a third four-year term this year, said it was time to spend more time at home.

The trustee had told this reporter four years ago that this past term would be his last, since it would coincide with his daughter's high school graduation.

But school district insiders said Kesner recently had hinted that he might run again.

A week ago however Kesner reportedly told Dr. William Bedell, other top school officials and his fellow school board members, that he would not be seeing re-election.

It also was revealed that Kesner would be stepping down as one of the school district's representatives on the city Planning Commission. In a letter to Mayor William Oakley, Kesner wrote "Please withdraw my request for continuation on the commission. "The time has come, however, to step down and go home, where I belong. Thank you for your support," Kesner concluded.

On Monday night, the City Council selected Michael Glotfelty of Cherry Street as a replacement for Kesner.

Mall deal dies, new commercial search beginning

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

The anticipated year 2000 opening of an expansive Tanger outlet mall -- featuring massive numbers of outlet stores and scores of theatres and restaurants - in Romulus is off, Mayor William Oakley admitted Monday night.

Oakley (displaying obvious disappointment with the news) said he could not put his finger on the cause of the collapse of the mall planning effort involving the southern-based Tanger Corp., but claimed there was no breakdown in talks between the city and mall planners.

But rumors of at least a delay in the mall effort surfaced just before the Christmas holidays since some preliminary major landwork and appearances before the city's Planning Commission had been expected by that time.

Oakley and the mall creators kept a low profile on the mall store plans from day one, with the mayor referring media questions to the mall corporation's public relations representatives.

The only major public display of the mall plans was reportedly made to a joint Rotary Clubs congregation last summer or fall. Oakley insiders continued to say the mall was "on schedule" late last fall, when questions on its progress began to surface.

The rumor of problems with mall development escalated in January, when Oakley gave his "State of the City" address to the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce and only mentioned expanded housing and road improvement efforts in his brief talk to local business leaders.

He cut his talk off by saying "that's all I can say. If I continue, I'd have to get into some negative areas." He took no questions from the gathering. Romulus persons outside the Oakley administration -both those considered favorable to Oakley and others opposed -- revealed in January that they heard the mall deal was "dead."

Oakley said city officials are busy at the moment talking to everyone possible in an effort to create a new "commercial" plan ...

Oakley said city officials are busy at the moment talking to everyone possible in an effort to create a new "commercial" plan for the controversial land owned by Florida developer E. Llwyd Ecclestone Jr. The commercial/office building site has been the object of political bantering for the past decade or two, as Romulus has pumped millions of dollars into the infrastructure at the vacant site over the years.

Several councilmen vowed four years ago they would vote against any more city dollars being used at the site until major private funds were expended there Jr.

A glance at old copies of the Romulus Roman show that back in February 1988 a $1 billion project called Metro World - that was then reported to employ up to 40,000 persons -- was unveiled. That effort never took off and Romulus residents have grown skeptical of any announced plans since

But Oakley refuses to give up on that valuable piece of commercial property - one of the top values still awaiting use in Romulus.

Semrau switches to police community service unit

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Police Sgt. Cora Semrau the first woman sergeant in Romulus history - switched from the detective bureau to the recently created Romulus Police Community Neighborhood Services Unit this week.

Semrau became a Romulus police officer back in 1983 and earned her sergeant stripes five years later.

Late in 1991, Semrau joined the detective bureau - where she was involved in a wide variety of probes including those concerning mysteriously injured babies, mistreated children and sexually abused

Semrau expressed great pride in her involvement in the handling of the abused horses incident in Romulus several years ago -- a case in which some of the neglected horses had to be destroyed and others were restored to health and auctioned off.

The veteran detective also feels pleased with her ability to help senior citizens - who often fall victim to con artists and other criminal elements.

While feeling comfortable with her accomplishments as a detective, Semrau feels it is a good time in her career to grow in other elements of poli-

Joining the Police Community Neighborhood Services Unit now commanded by Lt.

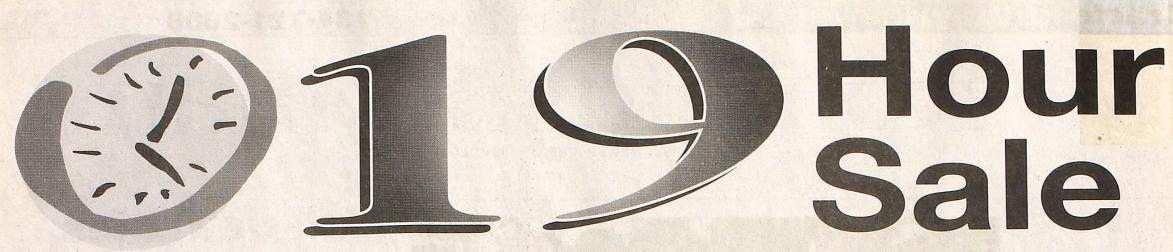

James Rafalski is another thrill, Semrau said, after learning of some of the new elements in community policing Rafalski has in mind.

While she has worked with school officials in investigations in past years, Semrau said, her transfer will permit her to get involved with students and parents in a differnet way now.

She is anxious to get involved in Neighborhood Watch programs - feeling local families can keep a lot of control over their own destinies by working together as neighborhoods and communities with law enforcement and governmental officials.

After seven years, Millpointe residents can sell their homes

> By IVAN HELFMAN MCN Staff Writer

The nightmare is over for 332 homeowners at Millpointe Condominiums. After seven years of waiting, they will finally be able to obtain certificates of occupancy, which will allow them to sell their homes.

Permanent certificates of occupancy weren't issued because the development never obtained final site plan approval. Only the issuance of temporary certificates enabled the homeowners to move in.

Without approved site plans, homeowners weren't able to improve their properties because it was unclear what they owned.

"People are languishing without their certificate of occupancies," said Councilman Trav Griffin. "They have problems selling and they can't do what they need to do with their

The problem stemmed from the original site plan. Wayne back in 1989, when Millpointe was carelessly approved, the plan called for condominiums with common property ownership outside the walls of each unit. Within the walls, homeowners individually owned the property.

"The housing market was quiet then," explained Planning Director Todd Kilroy, who was hired long after the Millpointe debacle. "We encouraged them to proceed to bring in new residential development."

Despite posting a performance bond, Crosswind, the developers, took their time completing the project, going

Despite two lawsuits provoked by the development, the Westland City Council approved the new site plan Monday night, urged on by Alexander and Kilroy.

"If you don't approve it, you will be punishing innocent people who bought in," he

"Our objective was to get finished," said Kilroy.

To get Crosswinds finished, it took the intervention of David Jacokes, former Van Buren Township supervisor.

"The outstanding issues, not the bond, caused us to complete it," he said.

'How did this happen?" asked Council President Sandra Cicirelli. Nobody could explain; however, Jacokes apologized for Crosswinds' incredible delay.

The approved site plan also solved a safety problem created by an access road for fire engines, ambulances, and po-

After the breakable barriers disappeared, the road turned into a miniature speedway carrying 200 cars a day past about 100 elementary school pupils who travel along the path to school. Cars whizzed by at 40-50 mph, claimed Tim O'Neil, who lives next to Millpointe.

To eliminate the illegal traffic, the condominium association agreed to post warning signs and to enforce the ban, since police refrain from enforcing most traffic laws on private roads.

Though the site plan was finally approved, the city is still not free of Crosswinds. Last month they were included with Crosswinds as a defendant in a lawsuit.

However, City Attorney Angelo Plakas said that he has filed a motion to dismiss the suit, and seemed confident that the city would prevail.

Johnson makes last call for help to save Sassafras

By IVAN HELFMAN MCN Staff Writer

"I need bodies to save Sassafras," said Chuck Johnson. Johnson, who fears that the quality of Westland's Sassafras Trails Nature Preserve may have gone done the drain when the city recently agreed to allow Wayne County to vacant the Old Perrin Drain, urged residents to show up at a public hearing scheduled about the drain.

The hearing, which will be conducted by the Wayne County Drain Commission at 2 p.m., February 10, at City Hall, will sound out residents' opinions about the abandonment of the drain to Galaxy Builders.

Galaxy developed the 54-lot Wildwood Manor subdivision on the old Wilson School property before the drain was vacated. The 13.5-acre subdivision included 3.2 acres of wooded land, which some Sassafras Trails supporters claimed was part of the nature

"Logically, the city council should not have approved the subdivision's site plan until the drain had been vacated," said Johnson.

Johnson is trying to prevent abandonment of the Old Perrin Drain, hoping to get it flowing again into Sassafras Trails' woods. He believes that the water flow is necessary for woodland plants and animals.

He also hopes to persuade authorities the former drain was a protected natural water course, based on a February 1998 letter from the Wayne County Commission. However, his hopes were dashed when the drain commission disavowed the letter and Galaxy paved over the drain to develop their approved sub.

Medical supplies for Nicaragua sought by Wayne congregation

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A dedicated band of 23 medical students from Grand Rapids University, who recently spent more than a week helping out in hurricane-plagued Nicaragua is planning to return to the stricken Central American country in March.

They hope to bring as much medical supplies as possible with them. Persons, who wish to donate funds or medical supplies can drop them off at the First Congregational Church of Wayne -- 2 Towne Square in Wayne. The church office is open from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

Local coordinator Charles Pittman said critically needed items include multi-vitamins with iron, generic Ibuprofin, peroxide, iodine, bandages, toothpaste, tooth brushes, personal soap products and similar items.

The Wayne church was notified of the medical students' plan by Kenneth W. Gottman, senior pastor of the Mayflower Congregational Church of Grand Rapids, back in December.

The Mayflower church has already invested $25,000 in the group's efforts, Pittman explained, and they had asked the Wayne church to provide sleeping arrangements for the students on the night of Jan. 17.

The local congregation took an extra step in faith and instead of setting up sleeping facilities on the floor of the church, invited the students into their homes for the night.

They were also given full dinners that night and continental breakfasts the following morning and then were promptly transported to Detroit Metro Airport.

The group returned on Jan. 26 and representatives of that medical unit have been asked to speak at a later church

In the meantime, the Congregational Church is seeking to aid the medical package the group brings back to Nicaragua with them in March. For more information on how other Christians can get involved call 734-729-7550.

Friday fish fries are slated every Friday evening at St. Aloysius Church, 37200 Neville road in Romulus. The Lenten dinners will begin Feb. 19 and continue through March 26. Menu items include: fish, potatoes, green beans, cole slaw, dessert and beverages. Cost is $6.50 for adults, $5.50 for senior citizens and $3 for children under the state of the stat

The St. Anthony Youth Group is preparing Lenten meals to raise money for their pilgrimage to the World Youth Day in Rome in the year 2000.

The meals will be offered from 5 to 7 p.m. on Feb. 26 (pierogis); March 12 (vegetable chili) and March 26 (vegetable lasagne). The site is the Father Folta Building at St. Anthony Church, 409 W. Columbia ave., Belleville.

The cost is $5 per person and $15 per family.

A songfest is slated for 6 p.m. Sunday at the Praise Chapel Church of God, 32747 Grand Traverse in Westland.

Special songs and dance presentations will be performed by congregation members from Wayne, Westland, Plymouth and Livonia.

The program is being arranged by Pastor Travis Goff and Productions Director

The cost is $7 for adults, $3 for those 12 to five years of age and those under five will be served free.

A series of special programs will be telecast this month On Main Street offered by the Lutheran Hour Ministries.

Comedian Steve Allen and his wife, Jayne Meadows, will be interviewed this week to show that true marriages are still made in heaven. The couple will share stories about their 44 years of marriage and stress "How to Stay Married."

Next week, Debbie Morris, author of Forgiving the Dead Man Walking, will discuss how she forgave a man who tried to end her life. Her talk will be shown on the episode entitled Forgiving the Unforgivable.

During the week of Feb. 21, the daughter of Penthouse publisher Larry Flynt (Tonya Flynt-Vega) will explore the addicting dangers of pornography.

On the last week of the month, Jaime Lyn Bauer, who plays Laura Horton on Days of Our Lives will share her testimony and highlight techniques that can rid a marriage of problems.

Call Lutheran Hour Ministries at 800-944-3450 to receive a free copy of the quarterly publication Broadcast Guide that outlines the times and TV stations the series is carried on.

A four evening seminar seeking to stimulate communication between parents and teens will continue next Tuesday night at the Ball Road Tabernacle Church of Romulus.

According to the Rev. Neil Swanger, church pastor, the seminar has been set up for either both parents in a family or a single parent and seeks to give those adults new tools to improve informal talks around the home.

Swanger said the program outlines different adult and teenage temperaments and how to use that knowledge to improve communication skills and eliminate any communication gaps that have already occurred in local homes.

Swanger is assisted by Ann Sherman, a Taylor school teacher who also has a Masters' degree in psychology.

The church is located at 7007 Ball Road, just off Ecorse road and one block east of Merriman road in Romulus.

The cost for the seminar series is only $10 per person for printed materials.

The remaining sessions are slated for 7 to 8:30 p.m. each Tuesday in February (Feb. 9, 16 and 23). For more information call 734-722-9638 and leave a message.

Shame..no security for today's unborn

It is a sad testimonial for today's society that so little media coverage and public reaction occurred last month, when First Lady Hillary Clinton announced plans to offer massive financial aid to add security to America's abortion factories.

It almost seemed that there was a collective yawn by both print and video journalists while unveiling the story on the anniversary of the Roe vs Wade court decision.

That factor alone seems to add credence to the claim that sometime in the future American society will wake up and ask their elders: where were you when the 35 million American unborn — or what ever number this tragedy escalates to — were eliminated from this nation's lifestyle?

The sad rejoinder to Hillary's comments are..."oh great...now our abortion clinics will be safe -- except for unborn children."

While I don't expect to be around in the year 2020 — I expect society's moral and social vision to improve to that symbolic eye doctor's medical examination number (20/20) and hopefully the U.S. Supreme Court also will guarantee — with full legal support —that same security to the unborn.

Even the most hardened criminals have their Miranda rights. Why do today's sinless babies have no such legal rights to life or even a voice in their futures?

Oakwood & You

It doesn't take a heroic effort to bolster both your community and your organization. The Metropolitan Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau (MDCVB) would like to propose that your national or regional association hold its next meeting in metro Detroit's Airport District.* Simply call the MDCVB and identify any groups that you believe would consider holding their next gathering here. We will then present them with a meeting proposal that includes positioning you as the local host.

Not only will you be providing organizations with an opportunity to hold their meeting in America's newest comeback city, you'll also be demonstrating strong support for your community. Your efforts will be recognized at a special celebration event held in your honor. And if your organization books a meeting you'll also be featured in a special tribute ad placed in Crain's Detroit Business.

To recommend groups or for more information, please call Ken Kettenbeil at 1-888-METRO-18.

*Any membership association, group or reunion qualifies. Meetings held exclusively in the metro Detroit area do not qualify; metro Detroit must be competing with other communities for the proposed meeting. Meeting must include 50 or more people booking a minimum of 25 hotel rooms.

Win $100 for worst pothole

As the weather continues to wreak havoc in Western Wayne to the point that people talk more about potholes more than potheads, ie. Clinton's impeachment hearings, I too would like to add my two cents, make that a C-note.

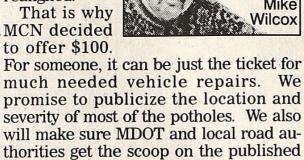

And, like everyone else, I'm sick and tired about the impeachment hoopla, and would prefer talking potholes, specifically who can find the biggest and most grotesque. That's right, Michigan Community Newspapers would like to reward the lucky reader who provides us with photo proof of the biggest pothole in Western Wayne. For it we will pay a C-note, one-hundred dollars cash.

Why? Quite simply potholes are appearing everywhere. Just last week I spent several hours driving Western Wayne roads in a new Silverado pick-up. I was test-driving the vehicle in an effort to see how it would handle the ugly conditions. Trust me, no truck, including the most sophisticated Land Rover or Hummer could navigate Western Wayne back roads and return without some kind of alignment problems.

Potholes for instance on Treadwell in the City of Wayne were so numerous I had trouble staying on the gravel road, and I was only traveling 10 miles an hour. Back roads in Canton were equally challenging. In one mile stretch I counted nearly 900 potholes, and these were big holes, not the mud puddle variety.

But I haven't been everywhere and I haven't destroyed a tire or rim like many people are reporting. If my Silverado is out of alignment the manufacturer will fix it, unlike many of you who will have to spend a good portion of a week's wage to have the car realigned. That is why MCN decided the potholes fixed as soon as possible. Send your entries to MCN Potholes, P.O. Box 578, Wayne Mi 48184 or e-mail to our website, www.micomnews.com.

If you haven't checked out our website yet, shame on you. Michigan Community Newspapers can be read from all parts of the world, each and every word, every week of the year, just by dialing up www.miconnews.com.

Theater belongs in a theater district

A 700-seat performing arts hall has been proposed for the outer edge of sprawling Canton Township.

The state of Michigan kicked in $28,000 for the Canton Community Foundation to hire consultants to plan the hall, which will present concerts, plays and performances, and which will offer music, dance and theater classes.

Canton Township is tossing another $2 million to help build the $8 million auditorium.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools offered to lease the site at Joy and Beck roads for $1 a year. The land is next to a proposed high school. (The lease was offered because if the schools kept the land, alcoholic beverages could not be served inside.)

The public is being asked to contribute the remaining $6 million. A nonprofit committee was formed by the Canton Community Foundation to raise the money.

The performing arts center will be part of Canton Supervisor Tom Yack's goal of "reinventing recreation" in the township. Being a reactionary, I would settle for a traditional performing arts center. I long for the old days -- long before Cats - when it was common for ordinary people to go to the theater to check out the latest Tennessee Williams play. Or when symphony orchestras had a relatively large paying audience.

Call me old fashioned, but I saw a lot of good in the performing arts and want to support them in Canton.

Unfortunately, the proposed

performing arts center faces bad odds in Canton because of official Canton's hostility to the arts, contrary to the ordinary residents' embrace of the arts.

I know from firsthand experience that the Canton Mafia is hostile to skilled performing

Having a talented musician for a daughter, I've encouraged her to reach out to the public for token support for her tour of Europe with the Blue Lake International Orchestra this summer - sort of a way to integrate her talent with the community. The idea was for her to offer service clubs Breakfast With Bach. In return they could donate $50 or $100 toward her expenses in Europe. Upon her return, she would share her experiences and treat them to another concert.

Her efforts were rewarded in Westland from generous musicloving seniors at the Friendship Center. In Livonia, from the city's youth symphony. From Farmington Hills' Musicale, she received a very generous donation.

She even receives support from Detroit, where she plays with the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra, probably the youngest musician in that world-class preprofessional orchestra.

But in Canton, my hometown, she doesn't exit except as a target for false promises. When we approached the township's bossy culture vultures, they treated her then 12 – dishonestly. (I'll spare you the story.)

From my experience, I expect performing artists to face a bureaucratic hostility in Canton.

Almost as bad, the performing arts center will be defeated by the township's penchant for poor planning.

Theaters only seem to work in a theater district, such as the performing arts theater in Royal Oak or the professional theater in Chelsea.

Located on an asphalt pod at the edge of town, who would want to go to it? Perhaps parents of student performers - but that's it.

If Canton wants a theater, it must create a theater district to put it in - a pedestrian setting near coffee houses and restaurants.

Otherwise, Canton will make the same mistake it made with the Summit when it did not merge it into closer into the civic center in a mixed zoning setting - in a civilized setting. How ironic that the Summit, the Summit of local modern architecture, is the nadir of community planning.

Performing arts are necessary for civilization. Until Canton civilizes its sprawling strip center-infested roads and unites neighborhoods with a municipal core, it will never be civilized enough for a French restaurant, let alone a performing arts center.

Don't get me wrong-I love each of my children, but 4 has to be the limit. Problem is I'm too fertile to be on the pill, so either I never have sex again or I need to permanently fix it so I can't get pregnant. Letters From Our Readers

God bless America's fighting men and women

To the Editor:

In order to better understand, I am going to share the following passage with you.

The veteran is special because he or she is selected. The fact that they are selected makes them something special. They are no longer free; they are subject to military law. They become a special breed, committed to fight to the death for the ideals of freedom around the world.

They can not be flatfooted; they cannot be lame; they must be as perfect as possible. They must be mentally alert. They cannot be moronic. They must be able to read and write. They must have some talent. They must be morally fit. They cannot be a criminal. They cannot be nervously unstable. They must know the difference between right and wrong. They live in unsegregated barracks as equals; they fight together

Only the best physically, mentally and morally are called to war. The tragedy is that only the best are fit to be killed. In our sophisticated society this special breed of men and women perform a sacrificial service. Only the brave are selected and only a race of ingrates would forget their sacri-

This special breed, this select group, these physical specimens - only the best these citizen soldiers, sailors and airmen went to war, at the behest of congress in defense of freedom all over the world and they become the best fighting men and women history will ever know.

They came home as veterans - gassed and shell shocked from Chateau- Thierry; bedraggled from the battle of the Bulge; hungry from Corregidor; frozen from the Chosen Reservoir, maimed from Vietnam and in record time from Desert Storm. Some came back with yellow fever, some with malaria, some with T.B. Some came back with mental disorders, some alcoholic; yes, some even returned as addicts and come with breathing problems from Desert Storm. Many live in the streets as urban

So, if you are asked, "What's special about a Veteran?" answer firmly, "The Veteran is someone special, they are our charge, they are our responsibility. They answered our call when we needed them."

Guess who's coming? The Four Horsemen

To the Editor:

Let us hope that this message will reach all of the peoples of the world so that they may be forewarned. The first of the four horsemen of the Apocalypse has been riding for the last two decades "as a conqueror bent on conquest" (Rev. 6:2). A much acclaimed spiritual leader is busily trying to form a one-world religion under his leadership. Once this leader ends or completes his mission, the next three horsemen will ride out in painfully swift sequence and the effect of their missions will leave fifteen hundred million people dead or dying. Neither our religious, nor our civil leaders are warning our people of these upcoming tragedies of world war, world famine, and world pestilence, so that they till not be caught by total surprise. The Scripture reveals that 25% of the killed and this would mean that over fifty million Americans will be killed or die of starvation and disease. The war between the nations is not the only war that is looming in the near future, for when this spiritual leader completes his mission of a one-world relioion, under his leadership, he will bring those who oppose his doctrines under persecution just as the case during the dark and middle ages. He will also be powerful enough to exercise a high level of control over the one-world government already existing - the United Nations. Since the final countdown for our Lord's return is obviously beginning, I pray that those who are following any leadership other than Christ, the Scriptures, and the Holy Spirit will burn the billions of books, magazines, and newspapers that keep them in bondage to the "Synagogue of Satan" (Rev. 2:9 & 3:9) and the churches of those who are of the spirit of the antichrist. (1 Jn. 2:18, 2:22, 4:3, & 2 Jn. 1:7) Please contact the editor of your paper who has printed this article and thank him or her for they have become one of the workers of the final harvest. (Mat. 9:38)

River cleanup gets off to good start

By DAVID COX MCN Special Writer

In my last installment of "Saving the Rouge" I promised to identify the reason 48 communities suddenly decided to renew their efforts to clean the river.

The reason?

They volunteered to, in much the same way the Egyptian slaves volunteered to build the pyramids. The effort got its rebirth when the Honorable John Feikens, U.S. District Court Judge, frustrated by the lack of meaning-ful progress, put the communities on notice that they had 14 months to come up with a workable plan that would have the result of cleaning the river. If they didn't, he Granted, that explanation may be a bit simplistic but it doesn't miss the mark by much. The idea that communities would be given a plan by the court, and not one they developed themselves, then have to implement it on their own with no additional funding, created a rash of volunteerism.

The judge reaffirmed his able motivational skills and the communities couldn't wait to volunteer.

The first task was to make application to the State of Michigan Department of Environmental Quality for a "Voluntary General Storm Water Permit"

Funny how that word keeps getting in there, the permit, as described by Joseph O'Brien, Senior Scientist with Environmental Consulting and Technology, is little more than an agreement each community makes with the State of Michigan to identify how storm water run off from their communities will be allowed to enter the drainage system.

It's called voluntary because the communities have the opportunity to take the handshake back, at least temporarily, if compliance begins to place an undo strain on the communities resources.

At this writing, all watershed communities served by this newspaper have submitted applications for coverage under the General Storm Water Permit.

Alphabetically those communities are: Canton Township, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne

& Westland. In truth, the effort thus far has been somewhat less than the shotgun wedding I have described here. I have been fortunate to be involved first hand working with these communities and their representatives and have found the environment to be extremely cooperative. The city of Westland, with the majority of land mass within the watershed, vas the first to apply for the Feneral Permit and the first to hare their work with other communities still working on theirs. The City of Romulus has played host for every meeting of the Lower 2 Sub watershed Advisory Group and Canton Township has made available a detailed Watershed Management Strategy plan created at great expense to that community. They even go as far as to mail updates, as far as to mail updates, which they also do at their own expense, the overall mood is upbeat. Representatives seem to understand that the opportunity to really accomplish something is at hand. We've had a good start.

Wayne Memorial made believers out of skeptics Friday night.

Rockets soar to 4th straight hoop victory

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

This definitely is a season of surprises for Westland John Glenn basketball fans.

After suffering through the early stages of a dismal season where they dropped four of their first six games, the Rockets have soared back to win four straight.

Glenn's latest hoop victims are Livonia Churchill and Livonia Stevenson - both Western Lakes Conference opponents and that means the Rockets are back

And, with undefeated Plymouth-Salem remaining on the schedule, Glenn could find themselves in the race for the title.

But, for now, they can shoot at stretching their streak to six as coach Mike Schuette's Rockets square off with winless Livonia Franklin (Tuesday night) and will face Farmington on the road on Rypkowski and Tonny Jancevski showing the way, the Rocks posted a 46-38 victory over Farmington that saw both defenses playing an extra cautious game.

The victory stretched Salem's winning streak to 11 on the year, and even Brodie had difficulty recalling when, if ever, any of his past teams put together 11 straight wins.

Rypkowski walked off the floor with 11 points, good enough for individual team scoring honors.

Aaron's teammates Jancevski and Ron Jones each tallied 10

On the other side of the ledger, Farmington receive 13 points from Justin Arus, who scored a game high 13 points.

In the meantime, Plymouth-Canton has apparently recovered from its doldrums and beat a hapless Livonia Franklin by 17 points.

With the Chiefs' top-scorers Mike Major and Jason Weidmann leading the way, the Chiefs trounced Franklin 57-40 in a Western Lakes Conference game.

Major and Weidmann split 24 points evenly between them to emerge as the Chiefs' leading scorer, However, the game's individual scoring leader was Franklin's Dustin Kuras who had Franklin is suffering a humiliating victory drought. For the first time in recent years the Patriots have failed to win in their first 10 starts. They are also 0-5 in the conference.

Veteran coach Chuck Henry (above) has been involved in some wild games, but Friday night's encounter with Romulus was one for the record books. Bedford wins Inkster title

MCN Staff Writer

Pre-tournament favorite Temperance-Bedford put together a lineup that consisted of both its "A" and "B" teams, and the combination was strong enough to win the 1999 Inkster Wrestling Invitational on Saturday.

Although Grosse Ile managed to produce more gold medalists than the team champion, Bedford had enough - just barely - enough points to surface with the firstplace trophy.

The Mules amassed 203 points, edging Lincoln Park, which had 199, for top tournament honors.

"It was a great meet and it was a close one," said Inkster coach Sam Ellis, who noted that the "only disappointment was the pverall performance of my team. We finished 13th in a field of 17 teams."

Grosse Ile piled up the third best point totle (176.5), followed, in order, by Troy (159.5), Dearborn Edsel Ford (145.5), Dearborn (131.0), Ypsilanti Lincoln (91), Waterford Kettering (89), Carlson (84), River Rouge (75) and Waterford Mott (75) tied for 10 and 11th places; Woodhaven (69), Inkster (66), Riverview (63), Memphis (54), Willow Run (44), and Highland

Canton flexes its mat muscles

MCN Staff Writer

Young and bold Plymouth-Canton has begun to flex its muscles on the wrestling mats these days.

And the latest victim of Canton's show of force is none other than Farmington Harrison. Harrison fell to coach John Demsick's Chiefs 60-15 in a Western Lakes Conference dual meet last week.

'Harrison has a nice team, but they are going to need more time to get their feet off the ground," said Demsick after the meet. "We had some freshmen against freshmen match ups that will happen

"But I was pleased with how we responded both on and off the mat in this win. At one point, one of the Harrison wrestlers hurt his ankle and couldn't get up so we all took a knee, similar to how a team would respond in football. We wanted to dominate the matches, but show support for them as fellow wrestlers."

The Chiefs received an exciting performance from Greg Musser, a freshman who was able to turn his more experienced opponent in the last 30 seconds of his match and win a 7-4 decision. Also, Derek McWatt refused to be beaten and fought back and overcame a deficit to pin his opponent in 59 seconds.

The Chiefs began the week with a 3-1 record in their Western Lakes Conference division.

Westland John Glenn track coaches are seeking past members of the Rocket track and coaching teams.

Glenn coach Jess Shough announced last week that the track department is planning a dedication ceremony for the high school's new track and would like to have the alumni participate in this milestone program.

"And, as part od the dedication program," Shough stated, "the coaching staff is organizing an alumni meet.'

The date set for the Alumni

Meet is March 31. According to the longtime

Glenn and former Cherry Hill high school coach, the tentative plans for the Alumni Meet is to stage the field events at 4 p.m., then conduct the dedication ceremony during which time former athletes and coaches will be introducted to the fans and the gathering. The running events will be held beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Former John Glenn men and women athletes may select to compete in an event or they may opt to attend the ceremony without competing but as a spectator.

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

Belleville wasted an outstanding individual performance Friday night by its senior guard C. J. Grantham against an undefeated River Rouge.

Rouge, the defending Class B state and the Mega Conference, Red Division champ, managed to overcome the Tiger guard's heroics and come out of the shoot-out with a 77-66 victory.

It was the Panthers' 11th consecutive victory, their sixth in the Red Division.

Grantham could not miss as he frustrated Rouge's defense with his drive-in lay ups. When Rouge attempted to double team the speedy guard, he opened up from long range.

C. J. finished the evening with a season high 28 points and, equally impressive, 10 assists.

But it was Rouge's All-American prep, Brent Darby, that kept the state champs in the game and out of danger. Darby drilled a game-high 35 points, a season high for the Panther senior.

Rouge also collected 19 points and 15 rebounds from Rodney

Westland Whirlwinds hit with their first setback

What ice and competition could not do, fire did. *The Westland Figure Skating Club was hit with an unexpected setback last Friday as fire swept through the home of the team manager. Team dresses dresses went up in flames. Westland Whirlwinds' team manager Dorothy Johnson said that the family survived the fire, but many of the dresses worn by the young figure skaters did not.

Also destroyed in the blaze were the custumes worn by the Youth Introductory Team. The Junior Classic Team dresses were damaged by smoke and water, and it seems that they will be able to be saved, however, the YIT team dresses are unsalvageable.

The team is judged against other competitors and the sport has become a national and international sport.

The two teams were scheduled to leave Westland for Alabama on Tuesday to compete in U.S. Sectional competitions.

According to Whirlwind officials, the Board of Westland Figure Skating Club is working diligently with parents of the teams to come up with a viable solution to the dress problem. Hopefully, dresses may be purchased before

Officials also note that "what a team wears in competition also plays a vital role in the final score that they receive from the panel of judges

Westland club officials also point out that precision skating is a fast-paced, high-speed sport that requires intricate footwork and complicated programs that are executed by the athletes on their

Elizabeth Kleitch, daughter of Steven and Ann Kleitch of Wayne, has been selected as a finalist in the Michigan's 19th Annual Homecoming Queen Selection this March.

Elizabeth, a Wayne Memorial High School Homecoming Queen, is now seeking the statewide homecoming queen

The crowning of the winner will take place during the two day event, March 27-28, at the Holiday Inn South Convention Center in Lansing.

The winner then will enter the national challenge in July in California with queens from across the U.S.

Geri Schroeder of Westland became a $20,000 winner last Friday after being the first caller (a week before) to inform W4 Country (106.7 FM) afternoon host Michael J. Foxx that that he failed to play a guaranteed 20 songs in a row.

When such a mistake is made the radio station awards the first listener to call them a sum of $20,000

Schroeder, her husband of 19 years and two high school children are enthusiastic about their win.

She reveals they have already stripped the living room wallpaper in preparation for a remodeling project. They also plan to pay off some old bills and take a unique family vacation - destination unknown at this time. One of the station's most avid listeners, Schroeder wakes up every morning to the antics of W4 Country's Welch and Woody and falls asleep every night with Cadillac Jack's request show. She rarely takes part in the station's contests, but on Jan. 21 felt compelled to try. Her son thought it was a wasted effort, but Schroeder contined for 10 minutes and finally reached Foxx, who informed her she was a winner.

Westland sailor makes port call to China

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Petty Officer First Class Allan G. Tardif of Westland participated in an event that would have been unthinkable three decades ago -- that is visiting the Chinese port of Shanghai aboard a guided missile frigate.

Tardif, 41, son of Virginia Tardif of Westland, believes it is an honor to be part of this historic visit sponsored by the Chinese People's Liberation

"I feel special that I had the opportunity to experience the visit to China.

"There is always something to be learned from a different culture," Tardif said.

The 15-year veteran serving aboard USS Vandegrift, expressed surprise at the size of Shanghai and Beijing...saying they are "much bigger than I imagined."

Tardif's 3,600 ton vessel is small compared to a cruiser and is home ported in tory.

Yokosuka, Japan - 35 miles south of Tokyo.

He proudly said "the (Chinese) people are very inquisitive and were interested how China compared to the U.S. in climate, terrain and customs.'

Chinese natives stared a lot at U.S. sailors since their complexions and hair color and styles were different to them, Tardif added.

Calling the visit - one of the top benefits of serving with the U.S. Navy -- Tardif said "What I liked about Beijing was the Great Wall. This is a structure that has withstood the forces of nature and man for more than 2,000 years."

The naval visit is part of a new trend in U.S./Chinese relations. Last year several U.S. Naval vessels visited Shanghai and Quingdao following an earlier visit to San Diego by three Chinese vessels.

The Chinese visit was the first to the U.S. in recent his-

Silverado is fun, family friendly

By SYIBLE MARR MCN Special Writer

This is a landmark year for Chevrolet. This is the first year in a long time that the full sized Chevy pickup has carried the Silverado name.

Not only has Chevrolet given back the name, but its given some goodies to persuade customers to take it for a test drive or better yet take it home.

Chevy put a new Vortec V8 engine. With 200 horsepower and 260 lb-ft. of torque. With so much power this is not your grandpa's truck anymore.

It also features a gear driven balance shaft for smoother performance. Also it includes sequential fuel injection which provides precise fuel delivery for optimal effi-

A great point with the Vortec is its a low maintenance engine. The Vortec has platinum tip spark plugs which can go up to 100,000 miles before the first scheduled tune up. A perfect plus for the pocket book.

Available now with the Silverado is Autotrac four wheel drive. Its not all wheel drive, but more like a standby four wheel drive.

The Autotrac system is capable of turning on the four wheel drive without any say so Autotrac provides rear wheel drive until road conditions change. It also has a transfer case neutral position for easy towing behind a recreational vehicle. A great addition for all of us R.V.ers.

Another great move by Chevy for us wilderness lovers was the addition of an engine hour meter. It monitors the engine usage by time. That makes the engine service base itself on engine hours rather than miles. Marvelous for vehicles that do a lot of idling.

You can't talk about a vehicle without including a low down on the sound system. On the LS and LT models they have included a built in compact disc player, standard, rather than a tape deck.

Its not a Bose system, but it does pump out some great sound. You can jam with the best of them.

With the extended cab becoming more of a family buy than the normal family cars of the past the Silverado gives the kids in the back seat a safe and friendly drive. They have thrown in some safety options that will help you keep them safe on your journeys.

It comes with a 4 wheel anti lock brake system, standard day running lamps for better visibility, brighter headlamps for better lumination during night driving, rear outboard safety belts in extended cabs for smaller passengers, and a crush zone design in the front and rear to absorb energy during a crash for less impact on you and your loved ones.

The newly designed interior features bring lots of inside room. There is so much headroom in the cab of this truck that you could hit every bump from I-275 to I-94 without hitting your head. Excellent for the Michigan thaws.

The looks of this newly designed outside is a breath of fresh air. Ever since Dodge redesigned the Ram it seems everyone has been rushing to copy the look, but not Chevy. They stuck with their own look. The curves look a lot smoother than a couple years ago. This gives it a little more on the aerodynamics end. Saves you on gas and saves you on the engine, not to mention saves you money.

Chevrolet has hit it big with this redesigned heavy. It may even give the F-150 a run for its money here in Ford country. A must test drive for the truck enthusiast.

Police question suspects about Burger King theft

Van Buren police are questioning about six people to find out what happened to a night deposit from the Belleville Burger King

According to Det. Sgt. Greg Laurain, the department received a call Tuesday morning from the restaurant's morning manager, informing them that the demosit from the previous night shift was missing. The manager called the night manager, who would have been responsible for the cash, and she said she had put the money in the safe.

The day manager searched the office and the safe, and called NBD Bank to make sure the deposit bag had not already been dropped off.

But the sum-nearly $1,700has not yet been recovered. The incident is still under investigation.

College trustees elected

During its organizational meeting this month, Wayne County Community College District Board of Trustees elected its officers for the 1999 year: Ted Scott, District 9, chairperson; Frank Hayden, District 8, treasurer. Other board members include Denise Wellons- Glover, District 5; Juanita Ford, District 3; Larry Lewis, District 6; Edward Clemente, District 7; and Myron Wahls Jr., District 4. In November, Lewis and Clemente were reelected to serve a six-year term beginning January 1, 1999, and Wahls was newly elected to serve a six-year term, also beginning Jan-uary 1, 1999.

In 1995, Wayne County paid out $4.7 million in litigation payments. Because of aggressive tactics from its Corporation Counsel team, the County has paid out only $606,000 this past year - an 87% savings over-

"This is outstanding service from a hard-working department," says Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara. "This savings means the dollars can be used for other County services.'

Starting in 1995, Wayne County's legal staff of 35 attorneys and paralegals, directed by Jennifer Granholm (Michigan's Attorney General-Elect), made it a standard practice to file motions to dismiss cases as soon as they were filed against the County. This ensured that

The Corporation Counsel office has also taken steps to anticipate and prevent lawsuits. Efforts such as tracking liability payments and giving recognition to lawyers who win cases have proven to be effective in trimming costs.
